In This Issue

In this month's VPF Statement, we highlight a number of enhancements to our financial processes and services: a new version of the Atlas JV application, a new tool for conducting monthly Financial Review and Control, a streamlined supplier registration process and more.

Collectively, these changes are driven by a community-wide desire for continuous improvement in administrative processes, advances in technology, and evolving Institute priorities and compliance needs. Our partnership and dialogue with users of these services and processes shape each and every enhancement.

We hope these improvements make your work easier and, ultimately, MIT’s impact even more transformative. And we look forward to collaborating with you on additional enhancements to come.

Best,
Glen Shor
Vice President for Finance

Uniform Guidance and Sponsored Accounting: The Basics

A federal rule issued in 2013 known as Uniform Guidance established and reinforced requirements and deadlines for improved practices related to many aspects of sponsored awards management—from subawards to cost sharing to faculty disengagement. Below are highlights of the Uniform Guidance requirements related to sponsored accounting functions.

Closeouts
All reports related to a federal award are due no later than 90 calendar days after the end date of the period of performance. These include all technical, patent, financial (including subaward) reports and invoice payments. Federal agencies emphasize that they will not allow cash draws on awards after 90 days, except in exceptional cases, as approved by the agency.

- To ensure compliance, follow the closeout best practices

Computing Devices
Computing devices can be direct charged to a federal award if they are essential and allocable, even if they are not solely dedicated, to the performance of the federal award. Purchasers, administrators, and PIs monitoring awards must ensure and document that computing devices are essential to the project and allocated appropriately among sponsored awards and discretionary accounts. Such documentation should be retained in the department, lab, or center (DLC).

End of Project Purchasing
$5,000 is the threshold for an allowable maximum residual inventory of unused materials and supplies, including computing devices, at the end of a project. In general, purchases near the end of a project may be subject to additional scrutiny.

Group Meeting Costs
Expenses for meetings, including food and beverages, may be allowable costs on a federal award unless the sponsor states otherwise. For the expense to be allowable, the meeting’s primary purpose must be the dissemination of technical information beyond MIT. The meeting must also be necessary and reasonable for successful performance of the award.

Uniform Guidance also includes requirements related to purchasing and travel practices under sponsored awards. Look for information on those requirements in the September VPF Statement.

A helpful breakdown of all Uniform Guidance requirements is available on the Office of Sponsored Programs website.

Coming This Fall: New P-Cards

Bank of America this fall will begin replacing MIT Procurement Cards (P-Cards) with new cards that will be equipped with chip-and-PIN technology. Requiring the use of PINs instead of signatures, the new cards will provide greater security for in-person transactions.

Current P-Cards will be replaced on a rolling basis as they expire or need to be reissued. More information will be provided in the September VPF Statement, and cardholders will receive detailed instructions prior to their transition to the new card.

Travel Tips

- Capture discounted hotel rates locally and around the world when you book through MIT’s preferred travel agencies or the Concur online booking tool.
- Simplify your travel planning and make your hotel reservations at the same time you book your air or rail transportation.
- Not sure where to stay? Need to make a change? Not sure if you need a passport or visa? The experts at MIT’s preferred travel agencies can help with all your travel needs.

Direct Deposit for Off-cycle Payments

As a reminder, HR/Payroll issues off-cycle payments by direct deposit when an individual is set up for direct deposits. Checks will only be issued when an individual has set a preference for check payments and when the off-cycle payment request notes specifically that a check is needed.

Coordinated banking outside the US is not yet available.
The overall steps in the process are as follows:

1. Form when international suppliers meet certain criteria.
   - A key change from the previous process is that VPF only requires a W-8 registration form. The international form includes a series of questions that help determine whether a tax form is required and, if so, which one(s).

   - The registration form is focused on making registration easier for MIT community members with diverse suppliers of goods and services at competitive pricing. The program works to maintain a supplier base that reflects the diversity of MIT and our community and provides a valuable resource for upholding MIT’s values through purchasing decisions.

   - Departments, labs, and centers are strongly encouraged to consider small businesses and diverse suppliers for all purchases. Learn more and email the Supplier Diversity Program with questions or for assistance.

2. New Supplier Registration Process in Place
   - Launched in July, a new process for registering suppliers of goods and services to MIT is focused on making registration easier for MIT community members and suppliers and ensuring compliance. Under the process, new suppliers fill out either a domestic or an international supplier registration form. The international form includes a series of questions that help determine whether a tax form is required and, if so, which one(s).

   - A key change from the previous process is that VPF only requires a W-8 form when international suppliers meet certain criteria.

   - The overall steps in the process are as follows:

     - Launch: September VPF Statement.
     - Demos: Throughout August and September.
     - Implementation: October.
     - Feedback: November.

3. Diversify Your Suppliers
   - MIT is committed to providing an inclusive environment, and that commitment extends to small businesses and diversity suppliers.

   - The Supplier Diversity Program connects MIT community members with diverse suppliers of goods and services at competitive pricing. The program works to maintain a supplier base that reflects the diversity of MIT and our community and provides a valuable resource for upholding MIT’s values through purchasing decisions.

   - Departments, labs, and centers are strongly encouraged to consider small businesses and diverse suppliers for all purchases. Learn more and email the Supplier Diversity Program with questions or for assistance.

Whose Money Is It? Help Us Solve a Mystery and Win $25 in TechCash!

VPF sometimes receives wires and ACH payments without enough information to coordinate and issue outside the normal payroll process, off-cycle payments are used when a cutoff deadline has been missed or a special payment is requested. Submit requests for off-cycle payments to payroll@mit.edu and make sure to note when the payee wants a check.
The overall steps in the process are as follows:

- Community member provides forms to new supplier
- Supplier completes the appropriate form (domestic or international) and sends it, along with the necessary tax form, to community member
- Community member attaches the supplier registration form and tax form(s) to the requisition
- If additional information is required:
  - If supplier contact information is available, VPF will contact supplier directly by email and cc community member.
  - Otherwise, VPF will contact community member
- VPF sets up new supplier in the supplier database and processes the requisition

Learn more about the new process and access forms and resources. Please contact procurement@mit.edu with questions.

Please help us figure out whose money we have! Check out our list of unidentified payments and contact us if you can help. If you assist in solving a mystery payment, you will be entered in a drawing for $25 TechCash.
